

Exploding stars. Dwarf galaxies. And the curious fate of once-planet Pluto. Find out about these and more in an evening with astrophysicist, New York Times bestselling author, and television personality

Neil deGrasse Tyson

Thursday Jan. 22

Pasant Theater

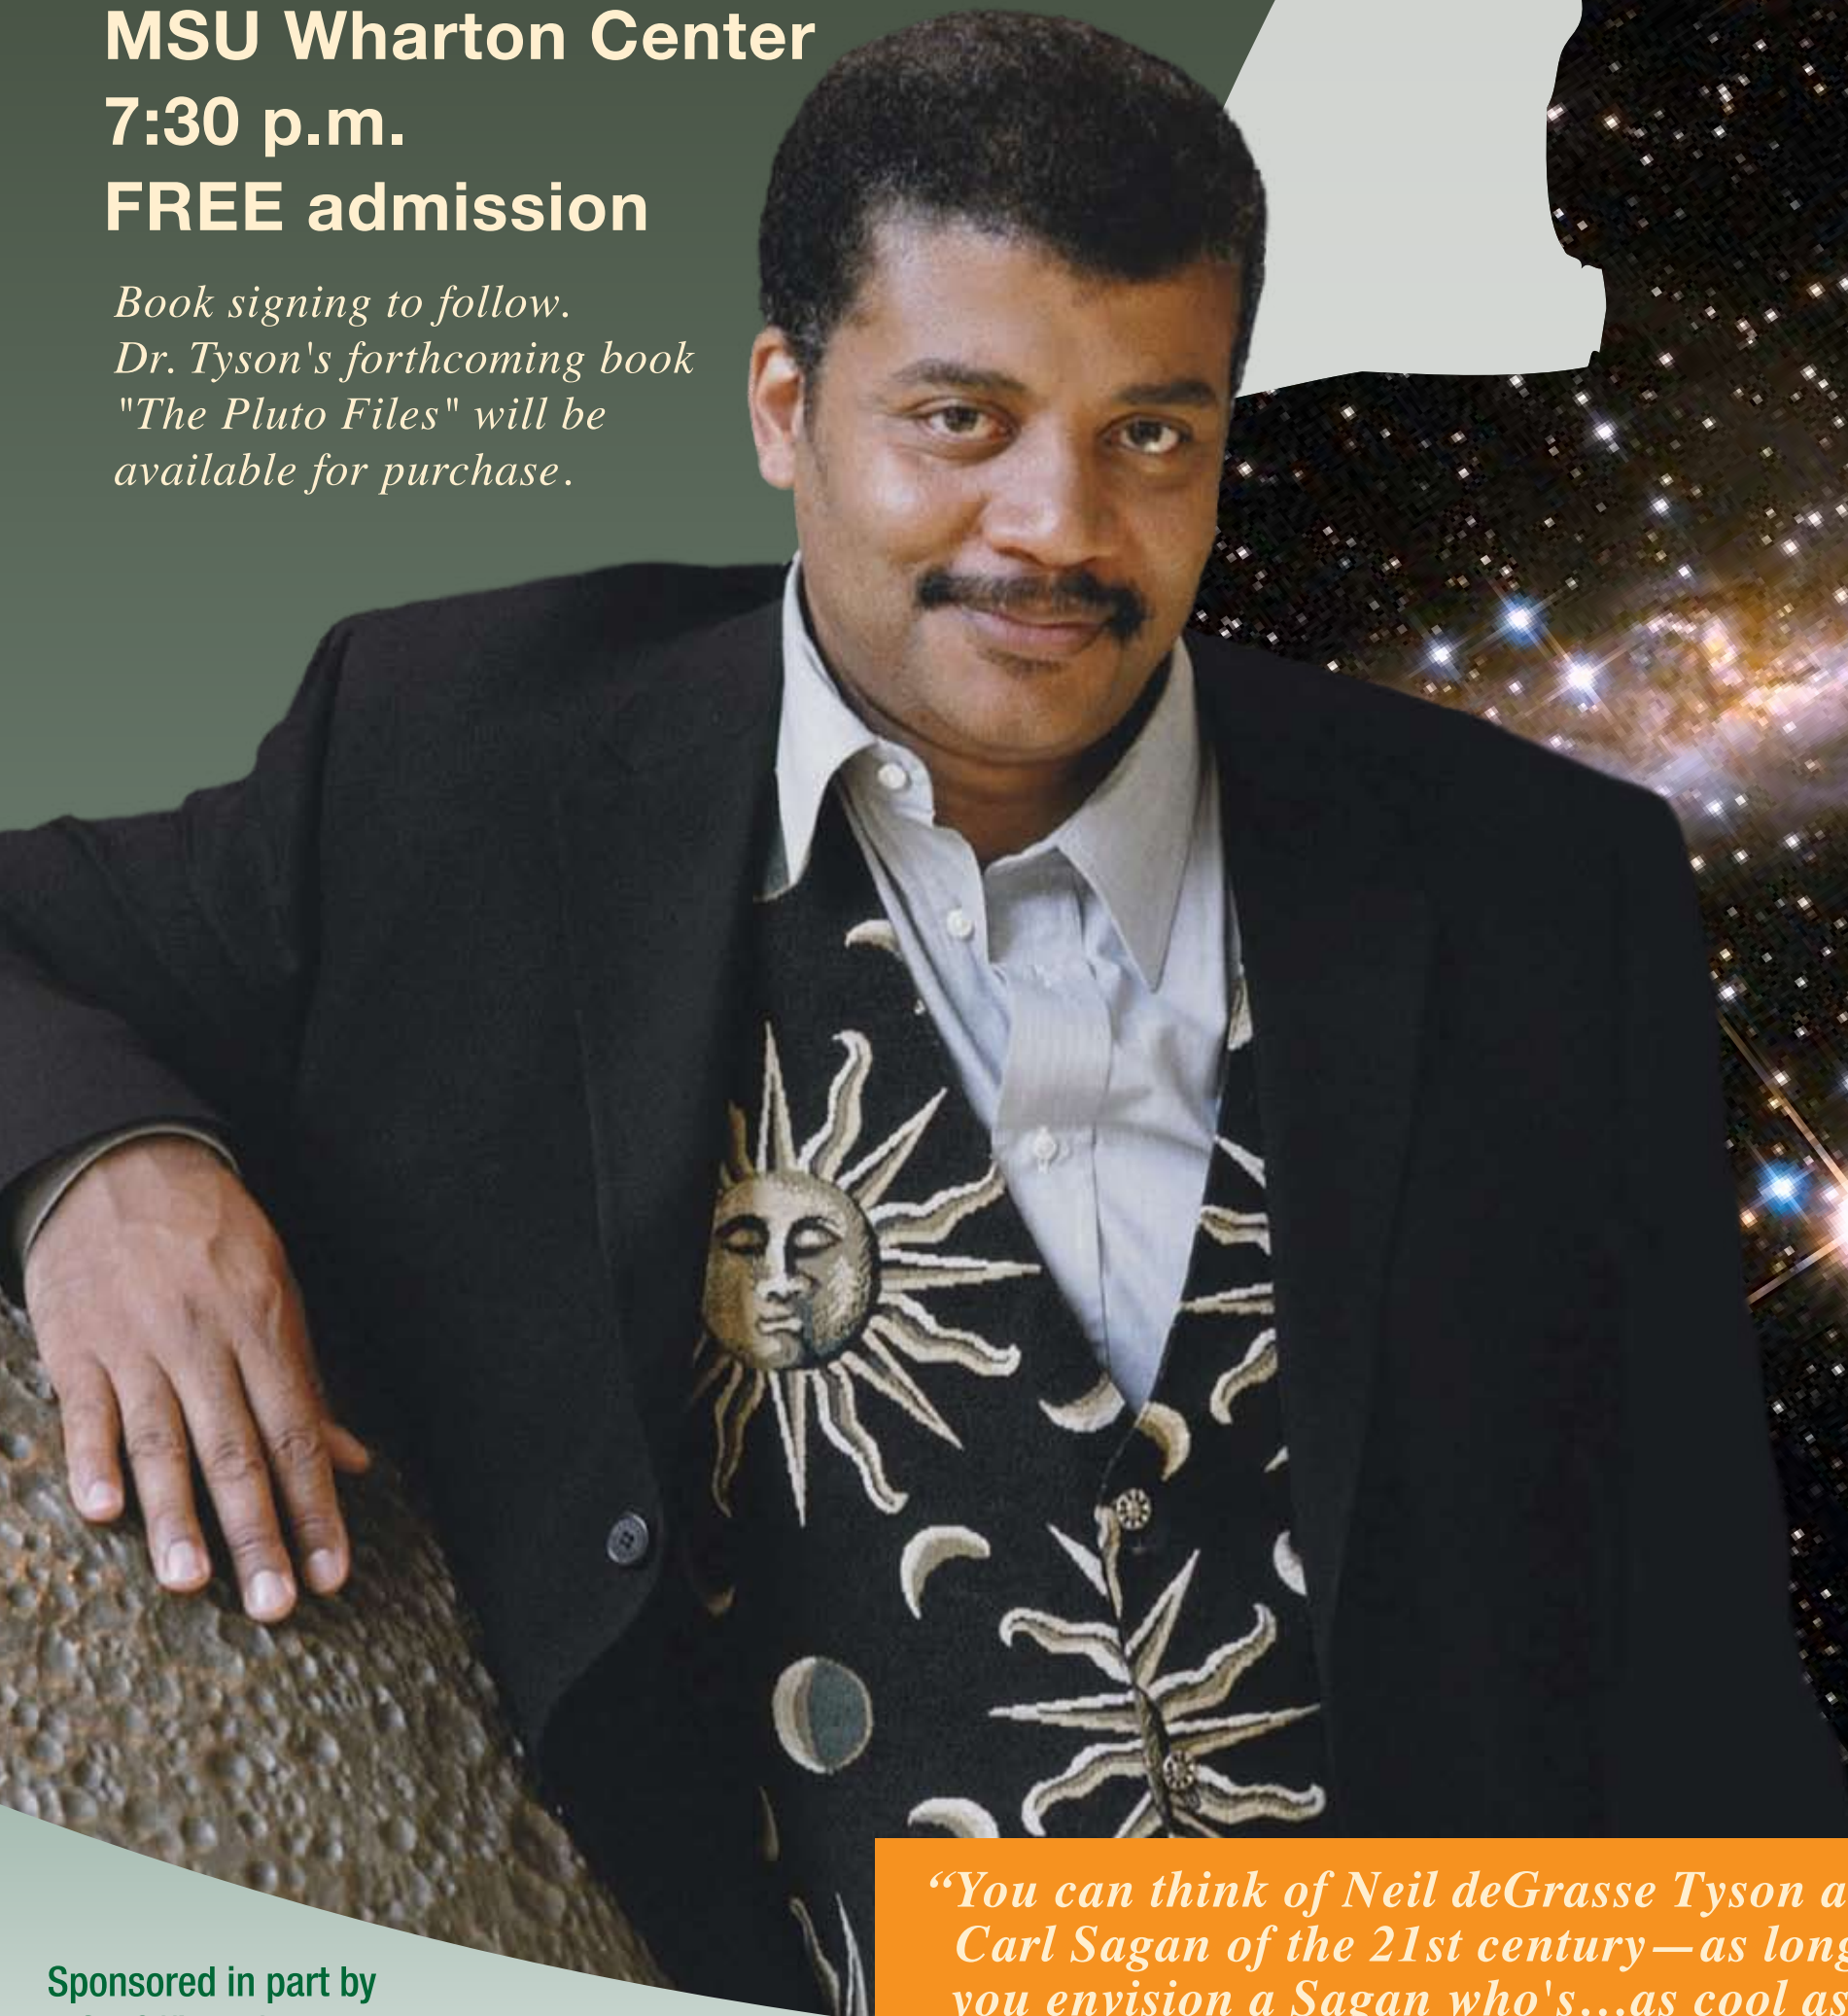

MSU Wharton Center

7:30 p.m.

FREE admission

Book signing to follow.

Dr. Tyson's forthcoming book "The Pluto Files" will be available for purchase.

“You can think of Neil deGrasse Tyson as the Carl Sagan of the 21st century—as long as you envision a Sagan who's...as cool as his predecessor was geeky.” – TIME MAGAZINE

Sponsored in part by
MSU Office of the Provost
MSU College of Engineering
MSU Dept. of Physics and Astronomy

For more information
contact Geoff Koch
(517) 333-6482
koch@nscl.msu.edu

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Operation of NSCL as a national user facility is supported by the Experimental Nuclear Physics Program of the U.S. National Science Foundation